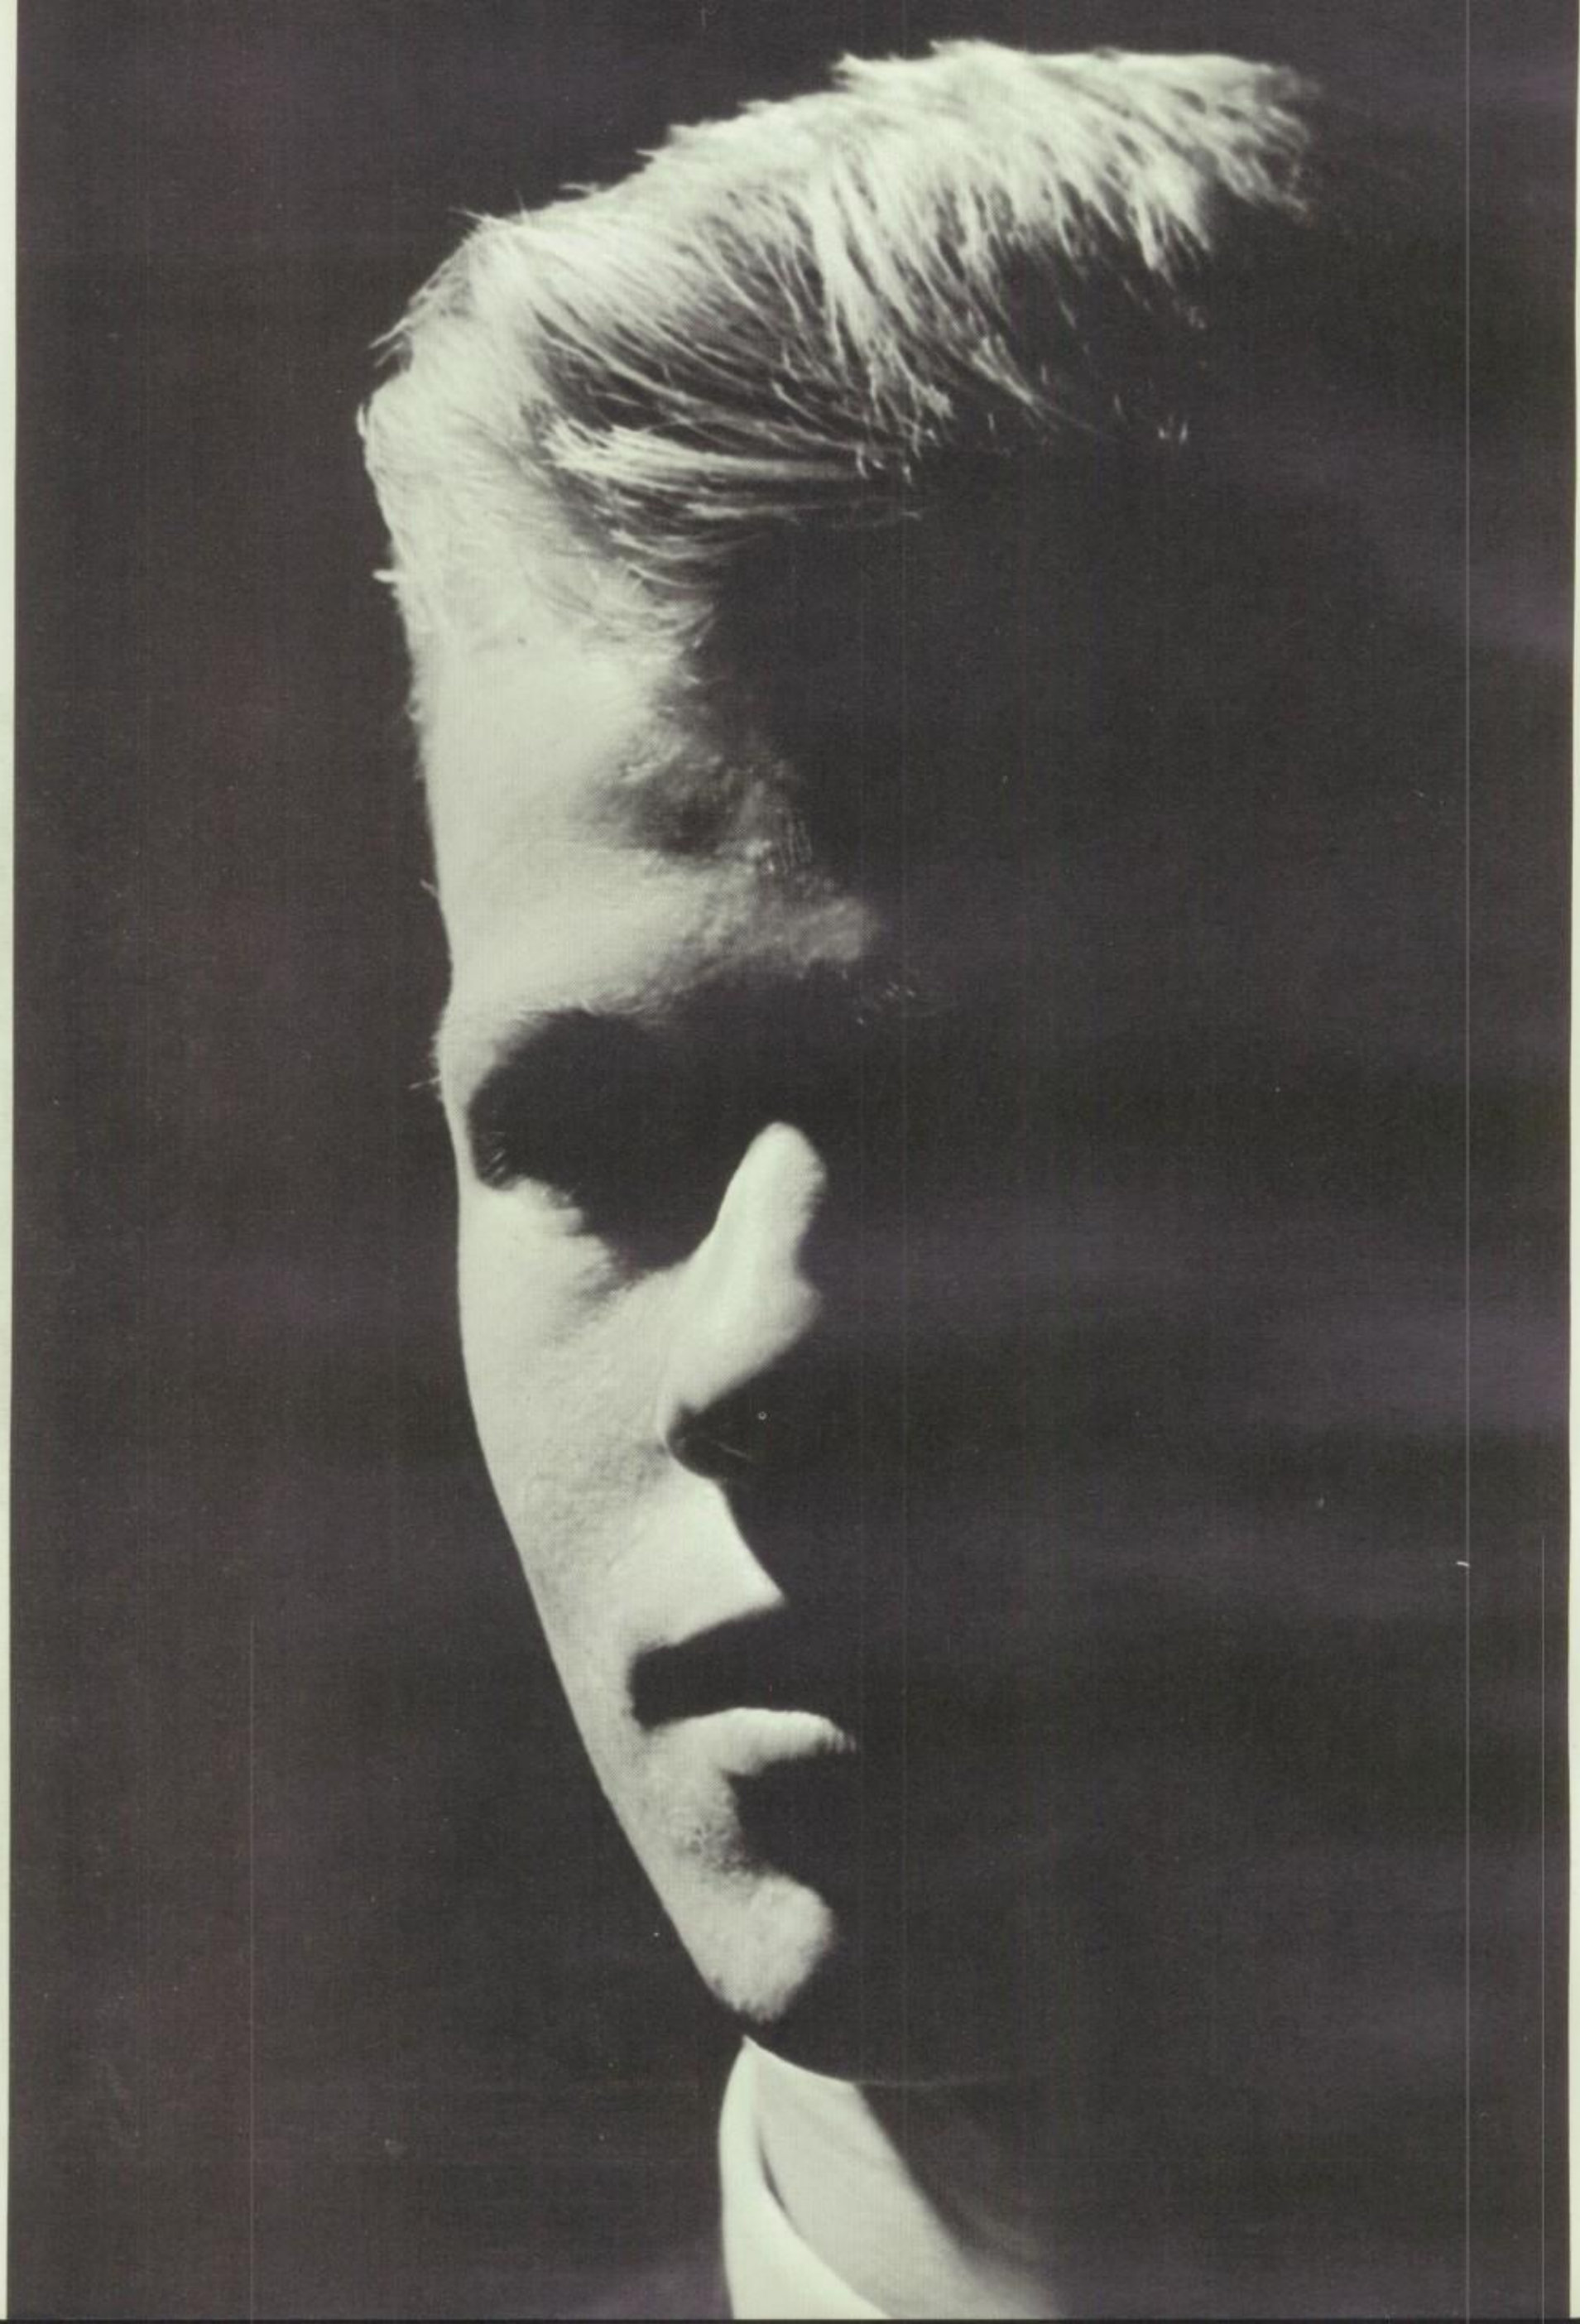
Friend, a question.
What is PERSONALITY?



I go to Webster.
He defines it as
"Individuality . . .
Distinctive personal
Character . . ."
Yet from Webster's Effort
I cannot quite visualize,
I cannot exactly Understand.
I will draw up my Own observations and
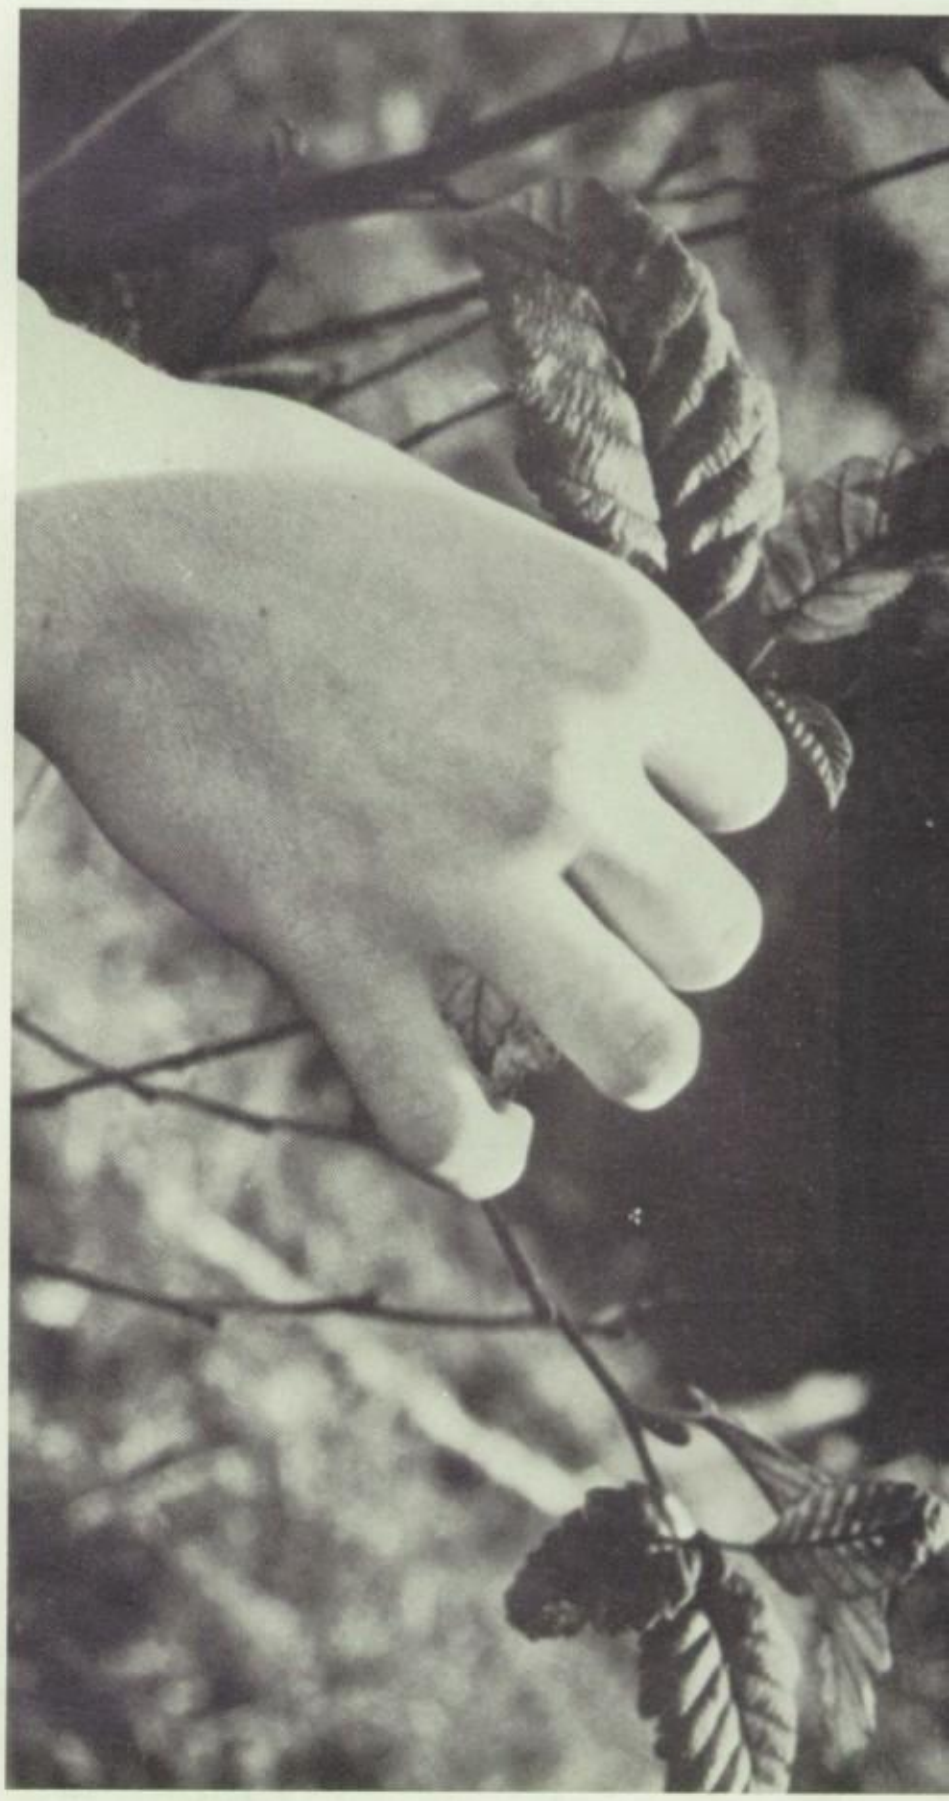
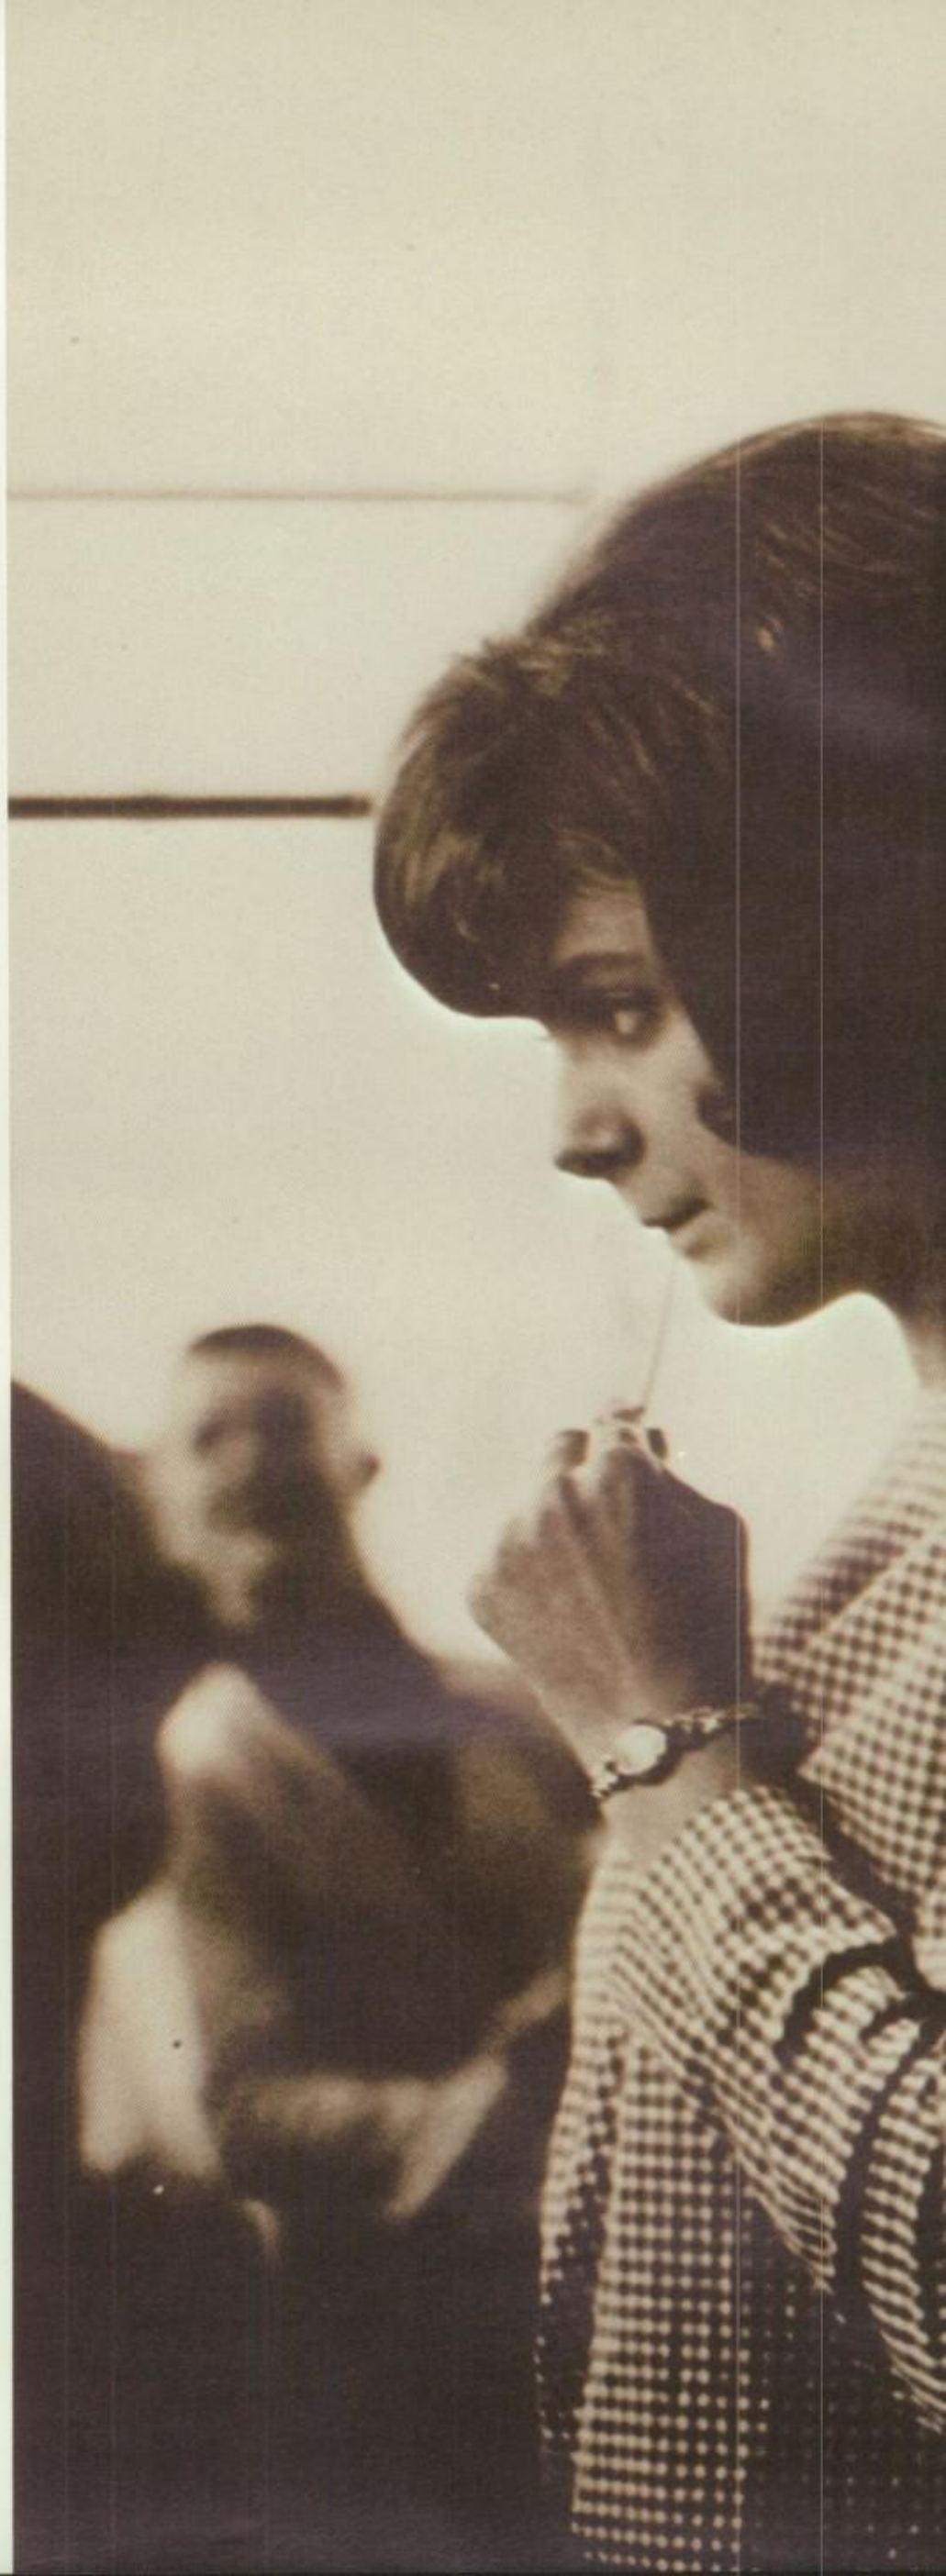
Set forth my own
Hypotheses.





PERSONALITY is the

Universal trait—

The quality that makes you

You.

A priceless possession

That cannot be taken

Away.

Say the word.

"Person . . . ality"

A person - a living being

With a character

Unique.

There - I have found

The key words—

Person . . .

Character unique.

But this guess

Is merely flowery

Words

Formulated in my mind

From preconceived

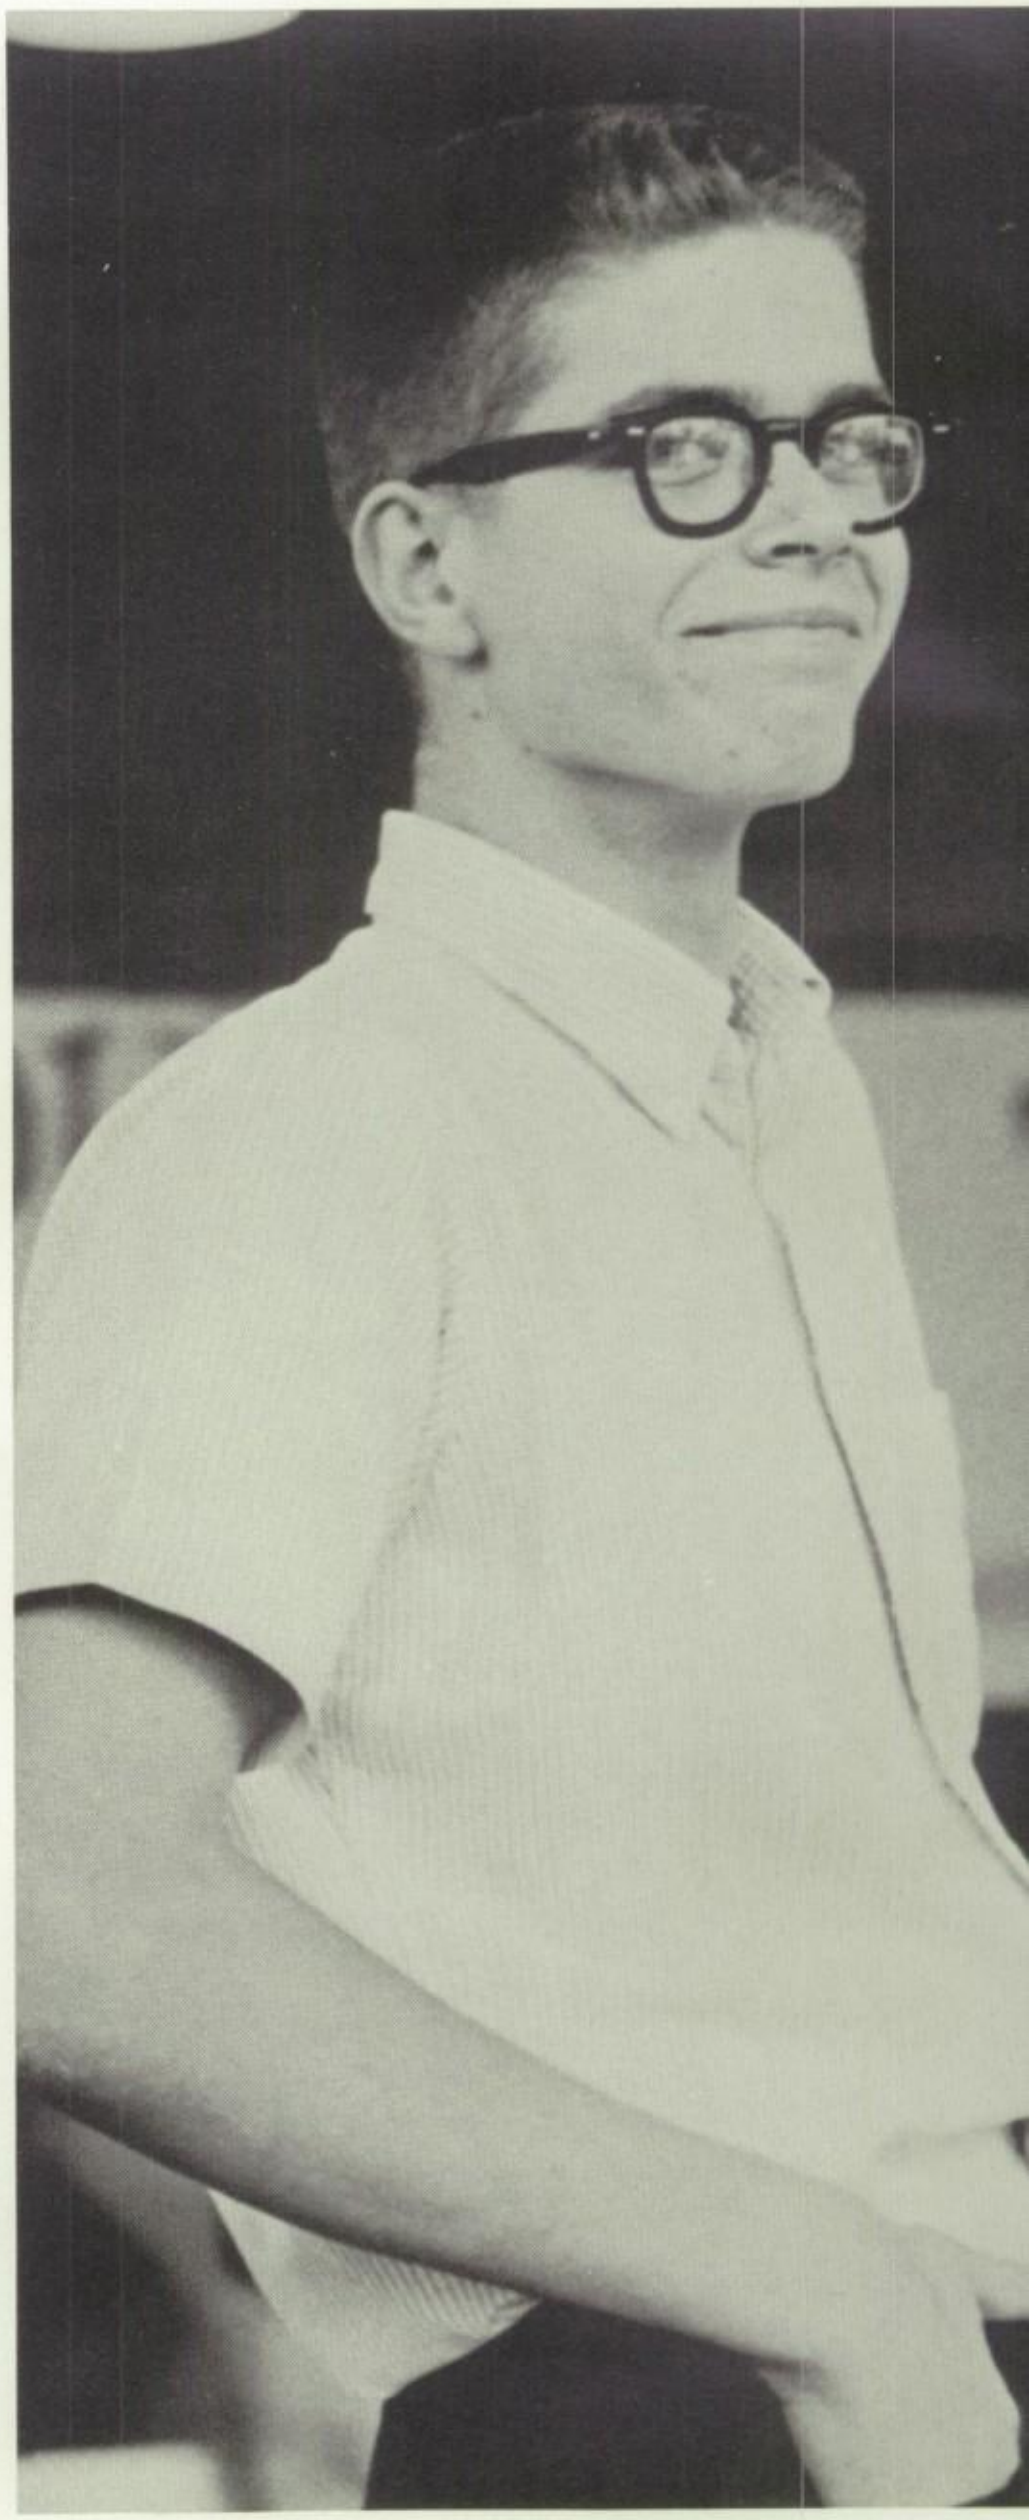
Notions.

I am closer but

I still do not fully

Grasp the meaning

Of this word PERSONALITY.



I must observe these

Key words

In action and

Take impressions of

People

From life.

Our school . . .

A

Myriad mixture

Of personalities

STAFF

They will pass from

Our lives,

Unnoticed and obscure.

A third-rated robot of Stature and dignity

Stands and

Gives and

Shoves and

Forces.

The grass grows loden

Green in many ways.

In other ways

A rustic brown protrudes.

The teacher will not

Say,

The student cannot

Say,

Only years gone by will

Reveal the Truth.

THE PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

PERSONALITY:

What an array of denotations and connotations are compacted into that one word! It is not to be touched, yet can be felt; not to be heard, yet speaks; not to be seen, yet glows. How does one define this dynamic, vital facet of life that emanates from the human heart?

Personality is not popularity nor is it the noise of one's passing. Rather is it a smile born of a noble heart, laughter freed from self-deceit, a song composed in a mind attuned to the true joys of life. It grows and blossoms as the acorn to give stature, poise and warmth to the one who possesses it.

Indefinite

Are we

Who cast our lives

Upon the ground

And ask but little.

The question comes

To vision:

Who are we

That may in time

Grow from acorns

To mighty oaks?

We are . . .

Delicate instruments

Registering time,

Some with great sensitivity,

Others with unconcern.

SENIORS

The end comes quickly.
Graduation rears up
And slaps us upon the face.
We consider
The things which we are about to gain:
A new life
Boundless adventures
Many successes and failures.
But looking back upon
Our life at school,
We realize that
We lose more than
We shall ever know or
Ever hope to gain.

JUNIORS

We follow the

Golden path of our fathers,

Scented with success,

Yet obstructed with

Winds not encountered

Before.

The rude winds beckon.

"Come with us to the depths below

So pleasant, so sweet

Let go . . . let go!"

These diverse days

Prepare us for the peak . . .

Whatever we have

Tasted will

Triple in flavor.

SOPHOMORES

The climb
Of life begins.
The start of a
New generation,
Confronted with
A myriad of things,
All original to
The waiting mind.
They
Sip of the cup
And briefly taste of school—
Times bitter, times sweet.
One step higher,
Then above.

SCHOLARSHIP

This one aspect
In man's indelible
Character
Cannot be surpassed—
Desire.
Progress and its shortcomings
Try desperately to give itself
The credit,
But man remains the
Shining light,
And his desire for
Knowledge, the trillion
Stars that surround
It.
Scholarship is instilled
With careful and meticulous
Choosing by our Creator.
Man will achieve
With this single, eternal
Attribute.

SERVICE

It is the key

To spirit

And the door

To oceans of fun

And laughter.

Those involved know

The secret—

The secret of Giving.

It whispers in return

The rewards—

Numerous intangible

Gifts of

Boundless quality.

SPIRIT

A unique word.

It bubbles with

Laughter,

It roars with Excitement.

It stands alone as

A giant

And yet is cleverly

Hidden.

People now and

People here.

It explodes!

And casts a

Wondrous, piercing spell

Echoing the

Ear-splitting thunder of Cheers.

Now spirit subsides—

To await its turn

To bloom into

Happiness.

SPORTS

The night turns to
A bright roaring
Light,
And the crowd draws
Close as one.
Each play a
Triumph, though the Game may not
Be so—
There is accomplishment in Defeat.
Closer yet does the Crowd unite,
And the people watch
On
As the formation unfolds.
A moment of Suspense—
It stays and Stays 'til—
Now!
The will of the Crowd shatters its Hold, and
The spectators scream
Victory.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The TOR staff of 1964 would like to extend a sincere thanks to the American Yearbook Company and their representatives, Mr. James Palm and Mr. Weldon Johnson, to Mrs. Hockom, our advisor, and to the sponsors and purchasers of this year's book. Our appreciation goes to Mike Kelch for his modern approach to the yearbook copy.

Without Mr. Rowland Johnson, this book would not have been possible. We are especially grateful for his ability to catch original candid photographs. Just as concerned as we were about meeting deadlines, he and his staff many times went out of their way to furnish us with the needed pictures.
